Why you Should Attend?

Human Capital Analytics is about understanding the power of Human Capital to transform businesses by applying simple logic, and not just numbers. Human Capital Analytics is applying the analytic processes to the HR department of an organization to improve employee performance and thereby get a better ROI. This two-day advance level workshop is for senior HR Director and Business Partners seeking to develop their existing knowledge base and looking to embed an analytical approach into their day-to-day operations.

This workshop will help in gathering business acumen and organizational knowledge, linking the metrics to existing metrics, connecting human capital data to business operations and finally using it to make relevant business decisions. The workshop will aid participants with real life HR and business case-studies to aid in creating and/or enhancing a strategic analytics roadmap for HR in their organization

Who Should Attend?
