Why you Should Attend?

In the current economic climate, the last thing one needs on a project is an increase in spending. It affects everybody from the Lender through the Employer and Contractor to the Sub-Contractors and Suppliers. To this end, this course looks to provide a guide to preventing the main ingredients of additional cost and time on projects or at least managing them within tolerable levels.

The course is provided to elevate the ethos of dispute avoidance and the art of working within a 'Team', which will not only provide a working insight into FIDIC Forms of Contract, but also touching on other standard forms and bespoke construction contracts.
